

Bookie's Week in Review

October 10 – 16, 2011

This week's Top 18!

1. Popeye the sailor man is the equal of eQuinelle, dipping far below his average, knocking off three birds, taking a skin and capturing a dog as well. Guess he had a double of spinach that day.

2. ParBreaker defends his Senior TC title by taking out Ticklar 3 and 2. Well done!

3. Also at eQuinelle, Burnsy and Malone go extra holes to decide the finalist in the TC Open. They tie the last five holes to finish all square at the end of 18. But it only takes one hole to decide – Burnsy prevails with a par. Congrats and good luck against Chef for the final!

4. BTW, did I mention that it was July in October again at eQuinelle? We could all give thanks on that Thanksgiving to the golf gods for smiling on our event.

5. The Therapist and PinShark make a rare appearance. Nice to see ya y'all.

6. The next day, Tuesday, a popular day in Slammerdom at a popular course for Slammers, Outaouais, only four players show up! Whatsa matta, eh! Perhaps most notable from the event was this puzzling quotable: "Holy smackin' buttcheeks." I'm not sure what this is in reference to and I'm not sure I want to know!

7. Hacker notoriously complains about his game before teeing off, claiming that he yips while putting, duffs his drives and shanks his irons. And then usually he goes out and beats the competition. It appears he was up to his tricks again at Metcalfe, getting four three-putts that are more than made up for by four bombs. And, of course, crushing his competition.

8. Woodsy continues his fine play.

9. And Suttly is definitely in danger of losing his D status. No more easy drops for you, fella!

10. Grumpy scores another dog at Metcalfe and is now fourth in The TAN Co. Dogie standings. Well done! And I guess it would be churlish of me to mention that he put his tee shot 18 inches from the hole, and....uh....missed the putt! So I won't mention it.

11. The weather at this time of year can be bad. After being blessed with such good weather, some really nasty cold, rain and wind popped up at the rarely-played Cedar Glen. As the OC, ProZee described it this way: "...you had a day that was perfect for sitting around a fire at home." But fifteen Slammers were not to be denied and stuck it out. And I guess Grumpy wanted to make up for that missed putt as he came through with a round that was 14 (!) strokes under his average. Nice.

12. Nice round by Pozzo too – pozzitively great?

13. There were two TC-Parent/Child matches played at Cedar Glen. The result is that the finals will be decided between Sunny/Sunny Boy and ProZee/Baldee.

14. I'm not sure exactly what transpired at Buckingham on Sunday. It seemed that there were some strange goings-on – holes played out of order? Ties galore? A late-comer? One thing for sure was that Chilly annihilated the competition in defending his Number One ranking with a two-over-par round. DeeJay, Canny Jack and Ticklar were his unwilling victims.

15. Wee Willie had three ties. Has this ever happened before? Maybe Grumpy knows.

16. IronMaiden betters her other half for the first time since April. Not sure if that's her better or worse half!

17. The Game has his best Slammer round ever. Not only is he Game, he has game!

18. This just in: on September 24, PingMan got a hole in one at Saint Raphael in Montreal. Number 12, 145-yards with a 7-iron. Congrats on your induction to the EG Hall-Of-Fame!

Ottawa Sun Rookies of the Year

Ticklar (2004)	Kricket (2005)
MadMax (2006)	Malone (2007)
PinSeeker (2008)	Cuba (2009)
Blue (2010)	You? (2011)

Bookie (#66), bookie@slammertour.com

slammertour.com