

Bookie's Blog, by Malone

April 2, 2012. Now we're getting into the swing of things. Our event leaders are IronMaiden and Grumpy, both with seven events each. Apparently this translates into our points leader... well, for one of them. IronMaiden sits at the top of the Bud Light Points Race with 32 points.

Enough talk about veterans though, congratulations to all of the rookies who slammed this week.

There were four events this week and the 1st star for three of them were rookies. Like IronMaiden's Evolution Golf skins report, I will go in reverski.

Canadian on April Fool's Day — apparently IronMaiden couldn't close the deal with PizzaMan, thought that was a regular occurrence as I remind you of the fact that PizzaMan is one of only two people whom IronMaiden has inducted into Bulldog's 10-hole club.

They both, however, were undefeated yet starless as rookie and first-timer Nolantor takes first star honours after gaining six points and starting his season off with a perfect Ian Campbell's "The Guy In The Kilt" Win Percentage.

Our onsite coordinator Smitty snags two doggies to jump into a tie for 6th in the doggie race. Note that the leaders are all sitting pretty with three dogs so it's anyone's game right now.

Arnprior was a chill day. A rookie named Chill dominated her group — and the day — as she defeated Bubba, Bookie and IronMaiden, took a skin and two dogs and a birdie. Her premium star status earned her tickets to the Canadian Tour event for Thursday and Friday at the 2012 Great Waterway Classic at Smugglers Glen.

RipZone and Bookie were 10-holed. Make sure to take a look at the notables for the event as they made me ROTFLMAO.

Bingo!
April 13-15

Moving back to Friday at Falcon Ridge — more rookies! On Ticklar's home turf, Polo came out and took him down on the great par-five #17.

With a skin to boot, Polo takes 1st star honours and a large buckets of balls at Karters Korner's driving range.

More three-putts add to the total contribution for the kids. Reminder if you three-putt add a 50 cent piece or equivalent to the pile of cash for kids.

The Casselview event earlier in the week reminds us that any day is golf day. The forecast was weary, but as always, things turned out quite delicious for three special Slammers who had great days on one of the Tour's favorite tracks.

"Steamer gets machine-gunned by a wood-pecker on his down-swing during his approach chip on #18 — and who thinks Tiger has it bad?!" (PointZero)

Take a peek at the event schedule to verify some cool upcoming events. Of note, Grey Silo in Waterloo, the EG Opener at Loch March on May 12th, and Timber Banks on April 15th is just a short drive south of the border.

Play smart, fast and friendly.
